Introduction
The 'Panoramic Window' sets a new standard for personalizing and designing VIP aircraft interiors. It is being designed for the BBJ, based on the 737-700 NG model aircraft, and would also be available for the upcoming BBJ MAX.

Your needs
Erik Geertsema, VP Business & Strategy Development at Fokker Services said: "This innovation re-confirms Fokker Services position as a creative design and completion organization developing products that enhance the customer experience. This is a real game-changer that offers owners, operators and passengers a distinctly new way to experience VIP air travel. We are proud we can achieve this together with Boeing Business Jets, a distinguished leader in global aviation industry."

Your benefits
"This innovative design is the latest example of Boeing Business Jets' commitment to continually improving our product offerings with increased flexibility to meet customer requirements," said Steve Taylor, president Boeing Business Jets. "Working with Fokker Services to develop the Panoramic Window will enable us to offer our customers, for the first time, unattached views outside the airplane cabin and a better flying experience."
